

Michigan State University | College of Education

Office of K-12 Outreach Presents The 2nd Annual Community Conversation:

How to Support Michigan's Black Male Students in 2023

NOVEMBER 19, 2022
12:00 pm - 3:30 pm

MSU Detroit Center, 3408 Woodward Ave.
Detroit, MI 48201

REGISTRATION REQUIRED

This event was created to supply educators and the local community with the latest cutting edge researched based information to support Michigan Black Males to become college and career ready in 2023. Don't miss this opportunity to sit and talk with Black male educators about strategies to help Black male students strive in 2023!

We will also celebrate the release of two new books:

Gifted and Missing: The Underrepresentation of African American Males in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics Disciplines, Fourth Edition
Charlotte NC. Information Age Publishing. Michael Lachney, Terrance Burgess, and Theodore S. Ransaw

Mindful Teaching Practices for Black Male Achievement: A student focused, teacher centered, and research-based resource guide for educators. Rowman & Littlefield. Theodore S. Ransaw

Objective:

The goal is to provide parents and educators with critical information backed by classroom and researched based information to help prepare Detroit Black males to be college and career ready.

Purpose:

To support Black male student success and provide space an opportunity for the community to converse with several Black male educators at one time.

Outcomes:

1. The creation of a friendly community conversation with Black male educators.
 2. Provide opportunities for educators to engage with college faculty.
 3. Increased opportunities for Black Male Detroit students
-

Activities:

Informal mini presentation
Lunch
Panel Discussion

Invited Panelists:

Jerlando Jackson, Dean, MSU College of Education

Michael Lachney, MSU College of Education

Theodore S. Ransaw, MSU College of Education

Curtis Lewis, MSU College of Education, Black Male Educators Alliance

Tyrone Bonds, Masters of Social Work, MSU

Kalvin DaRonne Harvell, Henry Ford College

Kevin Brooks, East Tennessee State University

Pastor Sean (Malakai) Holland, One Love Global - My Brother's Keeper/NextGen

CLICK HERE TO RSVP FOR THE LIGHT LUNCH!

Contact:

Theodore S. Ransaw
ransawth@msu.edu

